At the end of February 2018, Europol uploaded 25 new objects to its Stop Child Abuse – Trace an Object webpage (see euclid 2/2017, p. 61)

Since publication of the website in May 2017, Europol has received more than 18.300 tips from the general public, which led to the identification of 70 objects. 25 of them could even be traced to one country or a reasonable number of likely countries of production, with investigation ongoing in many of them.
